The benefit of attending

- Personal development: an introduction to delivering change and approaches to engaging people in the process.
- Opportunity to apply learning to a live project to get started with making changes straight away.
- Learning alongside other local participants and an opportunity to share ideas.

During the workshop you will apply your learning to a small, focussed project. Examples of projects course delegates have worked on include reducing the amount of correspondence handled by GPs, establishing care navigation, improving approach to care planning, improving the practice's repeat prescribing system etc.

To get the maximum benefit from the programme you are expected to attend both days. There is a small amount of pre-work before attending the session. This will be sent to you by your local convenor, who also manages registration for the workshop. There will also be some project work to be done in time between the two sessions.
